

ROBUST REGISTRATION MANAGEMENT FOR GOVERNMENT

What a Complete Registration Management System Looks Like

Calendars and class pages

Format calendars and class descriptions with your branding. Include images, maps, attachments, and links to other information.

Responsive pages

The pages you design in Learning Stream automatically re-size to fit any mobile device, including smart phones and tablets.

Flexible Registration Forms

Ask any questions you need to collect key demographic data, such as agency, position, supervisor and more.

Appointment Setting

In a matter of seconds, add a series of appointment slots to registration form for one-on-one consultations between your staff and attendees.

Evaluations

Design customized evaluations, weight-score questions and even tie completion to an objective (e.g., receiving a certificate of completion) to improve participation.

Online payment

If you classes and other events are free, no problem. But if you do charge for some or all of your programs, tie it into more than a processors.

Oh, there is so much more →

Streamlined class creation

Once you set up your first class registration as you want it, use that event as a template for other classes like it.

Copy dozens of future classes at a time.

Reporting

Track and export data at both the class level and at the system level. Filter reports by criteria you choose such as agency, department, and more.

Registration imports

Bulk import registration data and add to a current event or import and simultaneously create a new class.

CE tracking

Track continuing education (CE) credits of various types by class, print CE transcripts, export CE summary reports and much more.

eLearning content

Reach more employees by uploading recorded webinars or other training videos. Track access, viewing and completion for each student.

Security

Keep your data protected through password protocols, transport layer security (TLS) and PCI-compliant environment.

Learning Stream streamlines the connection between you and your learners with robust registration management software.

Learning Stream wants to make your registration management process as efficient as possible. That means a ton of listening on our part to ensure we understand your unique needs and how best to apply Learning Stream's robust functionality.

We offer the most feature-rich solution for the education and training market, so we train new users, guide them through the setup process, and even perform an audit before the first event goes live. We continue to support customers through their experience with Learning Stream, with live support that responds quickly.

We encourage customer feedback – it's how we built and improved our software over the years. We do our best to keep an ongoing conversation with customers through our support staff, newsletter, blog, constantly updated What's New and Help sections within our software, and periodic one-on-one communications with customers.
